The Fox River Butter Company of Chicago, Illinois, are paying 28 cents per pound, cash, this week for butterfat. The Elgin Market is 26 cents. These people are the largest cash buyers of cream in the country and pay uniformly a high price for the year round, and guarantee the shippers a "square deal." It is worth something to the farmers in this community to be accessible to such market for their cream and the cream shipper can afford at least to give them a fair trial as they are responsible for any shipment made to them and guarantee prompt returns.

Dr Eikenberry, the specialist, will be in his office every Friday hereafter. d 5-7 w z

INDIANA APPLES.

The advantage that Indiana apples have over apples of other states is that they have a better flavor. While the apples of Washington and Oregon are celebrated the world over because of the care in picking and growing; it is a well known fact that they do not compare with Indiana apples in fine flavor and real pleasure in eating.

There was a time in this county, this said, when it was not necessary to spray the trees, and such is said to be the case in other new countries. But that after civilization sets in, pests of various kinds afflict the trees, just as civilization seems to destroy the Indian.

Now it has become necessary to spray the trees and care for them as carefully as if they were of some value. Without this no man will be able to raise more than an intermitting crop of the fruit, in this county.

With our location, right here under the eaves of great Chicago, one of the world's great markets, the people of this county should consider carefully and earnestly the matter of apple growing. According to those best able to speak of the business, Marshall county can grow the best apples in the world, and it is only because the farmers do not pay attention to the growing of them that they do not have crops which would soon make Marshall county lands rival in value those of the far-famed Yakima valley of Washington.

In that country apple orchard lands sell from $3,000 to $5,000 per acre and even more. Would it not be worth while for the farmers of this county to consider the growing of a crop which would increase the value of their lands to such an enormous price as that?

RECIPROCITY.

Those farmers in the United States who are against the Reciprocity idea, fearing it will injure them, would do well to consider the arguments of Mr. Robert L. Borden, who is now leading the campaign in Canada against reciprocity. Mr. Borden attacks reciprocity as tending "to disunite the provinces, shatter the ideal of empire, and reverse the idea of nationhood." If Canada places itself under the commercial control of the United States, Mr. Borden insists, "its political independence, if retained, will be a shadow and not a substantial reality."

In other words, Mr. Borden is much more fearful for the welfare of the Canadian farmer in competition with the United States farmer than the most scared farmer of this country pretends to be over the competition with the Canadian farmer. He believes that the great army of United States farmers will all but swallow up the handful of Canadian farmers if the reciprocity treaty goes into effect, and put them in a position of absolute commercial subservience to our farmers.

All of which goes to prove that either Mr. Borden is mistaken, or that the farmers of the United States who have fears of direful results from reciprocity are mistaken. Might it not be that both are mistaken, and that after all reciprocity will be of benefit to the people of both nations?

Indeed, there are so many things which go to make up business and fix prices of all commodities, that we do not believe anybody can tell just what will be the result of reciprocity on either country. The wiser plan is to await results. They can not be disastrous in any case.

Mr. Rensberger, the new Lake Erie agent here, has rented Jo Anderson's house on north Michigan street.

Farm Sold at $65 An Acre.

The Wm. Corl farm of 160 acres was sold yesterday at auction for $65 an acre, to Oscar L. Breeding of Monticello, Ind. Mr. Breeding owns a farm near Monticello, but expects to sell it and move here in the spring. This was the first time a farm has been sold in Marshall county at auction, and the result was quite satisfactory. Mr. Gilman, who conducted the sale left this morning for Streator, Ill., where he has another farm to sell at auction this week.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Speaks On City Affairs.

The Editor:
In your issue of last evening you kindly refer to me as a possible successor to Mr. Swindell upon the city council. I appreciate the friendly feeling of my fellow-citizens. Many have spoken to me concerning the matter. I therefore avail myself of this opportunity to express my appreciation of their confidence and to set at rest all doubt as to my attitude in the matter. In justice to my business affairs I could not accept the honor if elected by the Council. If my name was under consideration by the members of the Council I kindly advise them to select another. I would not accept if elected.

As a citizen and taxpayer I would suggest to them the wisdom of avoiding any action in filling vacancies, that would savor of a prearranged plan. I would also suggest to them the wisdom of investigating very carefully and if possible removing the cause of the filing of Mr. Clizbe's resignation. The people elected him. Nothing should be done by the Council to cause his resignation. I would say to the Democratic members of the Council do not consent to bear the entire burden made heavier by a foolish tax levy. Permit the members of the Council who are Republicans to remain at their post and discharge the duties imposed upon them by their oath of office.

Give us for Mayor as good a citizen and as good a Republican as Mr. Cleveland. Give us for Councilman at large as good a citizen and as good a Democrat as Mr. Swindell is a Republican and you will have done your duty. You will have three Democrats and two Republicans as councilmen and a Republican mayor. The burden will be divided the people better pleased and the Democratic party maintaining in civic affairs an impregnable position for honesty, justice and fair-play.

Yours Very Respectfully,
Michael Ryan.
